Kotoku Farm

Established in 1897, Kotoku Farm is located in Nikko National Park in Okunikko, with a size of about 50,000 square meters. Reopened in July 2024 after a major renovation, the farm resumed cattle grazing after about five years. Surrounded by broadleaf trees, such as mizunara oak trees, the farm offers beautiful views of fresh green leaves in early summer and colorful leaves in autumn.

⑤ Kotoku no Oka (miharashi viewpoint bench)

This “hidden gem” offers beautiful views of the back side of Mt. Nantai (ura-nantai). It is also a good photo spot where you can take magnificent photos, surrounded by nature.

Benches made from fallen trees from Nikko National Park are installed.

Seasonal flowers

Along the walking paths to Kotoku no Oka, you can see beautiful Japanese primrose flowering from late May to mid-June.
